

SA001204

In this drawing, the peacock feather is illuminated by a warm, electric light coming from the left, and thus it has warmer colors overall. The brown part has some warm yellows and the greens lean towards the warm color temperature, too. A lighter, flat background color makes it stand out.

SA001205

While the previous drawing was completed on white paper, I drew this one using lightfast colored pencils on Ampersand Pastelbord (<http://www.ampersandart.com/pastel.html>), which is a durable and archival surface with a gray color. It's quite tricky to draw on such boards for beginners, so I recommend drawing on smooth white paper before drawing on color paper of medium tone. Colored pencil colors tend to "react" to certain color papers and thus look more vibrant.

SA001206

LEARN HOW TO DRAW BETTER ANIMALS

Get insider tricks for drawing realistic animals, including cats, dogs, cows & horses.

Get My FREE Guide »

\(/guide/how-to-draw-animals/16344?_ct=rbew&_ctp=172579\)

Pinterest Facebook Email PrintFriendly More 148

6 COMMENTS

Georgiann Livingston
October 8th, 2015

Thank you for few lessons ... Bless you.
Reply

Gladys Martinez

